

Hydrodyne Related Research Publications

- Berry, B.W., Solomon, M.B., Johnson, W.L., Long, J.B., Eastridge, J.S., and Zuckerman, H. 1997. Application of the Hydrodyne process to strip loins from U.S. Select grade beef. J. Anim Sci. 75 (Suppl. 1) 128.
- Claus, J.R., Schilling, J.K., Marriott, N.G., Duncan, S.E., Solomon, M.B., and Wang, H. 2001. Hydrodynamic shockwave tenderization effects using a cylinder processor on early deboned broiler breasts. Meat Sci. 58:287-292.
- Claus, J.R., Schilling, J.K., Marriott, N.G., Duncan, S.E., Solomon, M.B., and Wang, H. 2001. Tenderization of chicken and turkey breasts with electrically produced hydrodynamic shockwaves. Meat Sci. 58:283-286.
- Godfrey, J. 1970. Tenderizing Meat. U.S. Patent 3,492,688.
- Long, J.B. 1993. Tenderizing meat. U.S. patent 5,273,766.
- Long, J.B. 1994. Apparatus for tenderizing meat. U.S. patent 5,328,403.
- Long, J.B. 2000. Treatment of meat by capacitor discharge. U.S. patent 6,120,818.
- Long, J.B. 2001. Continuous shockwave food processing with shockwave reflection. U.S. patent 6,168,815B1.
- Long, J.B. 2001. Shockwave food processing with acoustic converging wave guide. 6,224,476B1
- Lorca, T.A., Pierson, M.D., and Claus, J.R. 2001. Surface bacterial penetration as a result of hydrodynamic shockwave treatment of beef steaks. Poster. IFT Annual Meeting, Food Microbiology Division 88D, June 23, 2001 - June 27, 2001, in New Orleans, Louisiana. Abstr. 8244.
- Marriott, N.G., Wang, H., and Solomon, M.B. 2001. Studies of cow beef tenderness enhancement through supersonic-hydrodynamic shock wave treatment. J. Muscle Foods 12:207-218.
- Marriott, N.G., Wang, H. and Solomon, M. B. 2000. Cow beef tenderness enhancement through supersonic shock wave treatment. Congress Proceedings. 46th Internat. Congress of Meat Sci. and Technol. Argentina, 27 Aug. – 1 Sept.
- Meek, K.I. Claus, J.R. Duncan, S.E. Marriott, N.G. Solomon, M.B. Kathman, S.J. and Marini, M.E. 2000. Quality and Sensory Characteristics of Post-Rigor, Early Deboned Broiler Breast Meat Tenderized Using Hydrodynamic Shock Waves. Poultry Sci. 79:126-136.
- Moeller, S., Wulf, D., Meeker, D., Ndife, M, Sundararajan, N., Solomon, M.B. 1999. Impact of the hydrodyne process on tenderness, microbial load, and sensory characteristics of pork longissimus muscle. J. Anim. Sci. 77:2119-2123.

- O'Rourke, B.M., Calkins, C.R., Rosario, R.T., Eastridge, J.S., Solomon, M.B., and Long, J.B. 1998. Improvement of pork loin tenderness using the Hydrodyne process. Nebraska Swine Report. 36-38.
- O'Rourke, B.M., Calkins, C.R., Rosario, R.T., Eastridge, J.S., Solomon, M.B., and Long, J.B. 1999. Relationship of muscle fiber orientation during Hydrodyne treatment to tenderness, aging, and proteolysis of beef. Midwest Sect. of the Amer. Soc. Of Anim Sci. Des Moines, IA.
- Schilling, J. K. 2000 (Spring). High pressure hydrodynamic shock wave effects on tenderness of early deboned broiler breasts. M.S. Thesis. VPI&SU.
- Schilling, M.W., Claus, J.R., Marriott, N.G., Solomon, M.B., Eigel, W.N., and Wang H. 2001. No effect of hydrodynamic shock wave on protein functionality of beef muscle. J. Food Sci. In press.
- Solomon, M.B. and Eastridge, J.S. 1999c. Type of container and quantity of explosive In the Hydrodyne process on beef strip loin tenderness. J. Animal Sci. (Supplement 1) 77:173
- Solomon, M.B., Berry, B.W., Eastridge, J.S., and Paroczay, E.W., 1999a. Muscle fiber orientation during Hydrodyne treatment on tenderness improvement in semitendinosus muscles process. J. Animal Sci. (Supplement 1) 77:91.
- Solomon, M.B., Berry, B.W., Eastridge, J.S., Paroczay, E.W., Romanowski, R., and George, M. 1999b. A look at two different containers for performing the Hydrodyne process. J. Animal Sci. (Supplement 1) 77:90-91.
- Solomon, M.B., Eastridge, J.S., and Long, J.B. 1997a. The Hydrodyne process for tenderizing cold shortened beef. Inst. Food Technol. 21-9.
- Solomon, M.B., J.S. Eastridge, H. Zuckerman, J.B. Long, and W. Johnson. 1997b. Hydrodyne-treated beef: tenderness and muscle ultrastructure. Proc. 43rd Int. Cong. Meat Sci. Technol. Lillehammer, Norway.
- Solomon, M.B., Long, J.B., and Eastridge, J.S. 1997a. The Hydrodyne-a new process to improve beef tenderness. J. Anim. Sci. 75:1534-1537.
- Solomon, M.B., Long, Carpenter C.E., Snowden, G.D., and Cockett, N.E. 1998. Tenderizing callipyge lamb with the Hydrodyne process and electrical stimulation. J. Muscle Foods. 9:305-311.
- Solomon, M.B., J.B. Long, J.S. Eastridge, C.E. Carpenter, and W. Johnson, 1996. New process to improve meat tenderness The Hydrodyne. 7th Central America and Caribbean Symposium on Meat Processing and Technology, San Jose, Costa Rica.

Solomon, M.B., Long, J.B., Eastridge, J.S., Zuckerman, H. and Berry, B.W. 1997b. New technology to instantly tenderize meat. Proc. 50th AMSA Recip. Meats Conf. p.165-166.

Solomon, M.B., Long, J.B., Eastridge, J.S., Zuckerman, H. and Johnson, W.L. 1997c. Hydrodyne treated beef: tenderness and muscle ultrastructure. Proc. 43rd Intl. Cong. Meat Sci. Technol. p 121-124.

Solomon, M.B. 1998. The Hydrodyne process for tenderizing meat. Proc. 51st AMSA Recip. Meats Conf. p.171-176.

Spanier, A.M. Berry, B.W. and Solomon, M.B. 2000. Variation in the tenderness of beef strip loins and improvement in tenderness by use of hydrodynamic pressure processing (HDP). J. Muscle Foods 11:183-196.

Zuckerman, H. and Solomon, M.B. 1998. Ultrastructure changes in bovine longissimus muscle caused by the Hydrodyne process. J. Muscle Foods. 9:419-426.

Websites:

<http://www.wisc.edu/animalsci/faculty/claus/reshome.htm>

<http://www.wisc.edu/animalsci/faculty/claus/hyd/hydhome.htm>

http://www.halliburton.com/kbr_hydrodyne/hydrodyne_default.asp

<http://www.eurekalert.org/releases/vt-vts031199.html>

<http://www.fsis.usda.gov/OA/background/O157policy.htm>

FSIS Policy on Non-intact Raw Beef Products Contaminated with E. coli O157:H7

Other pertinent publications:

Hirschler, E.M. and Sams, A.R. 1998. The influence of commercial-scale electrical stimulation on tenderness, breast meat yield, and production costs. J. Appl. Poultry Res. 7:99-103.